BASEBALLERS ORGANIZE

A rather small attendance graced the annual meeting of the Baseball Club on Thursday evening last. The organization for the coming season, and the enthusiasm and the determination of those present to organize on lines which will make a success of this popular sport made up for the lack of numbers.

It was decided to play strictly amateur ball, to affiliate with the Alberta Amateur Baseball Association, get in an organized league if possible, and take part in the provincial amateur play-offs. The Alberta Amateur Baseball Association is managed along the same lines, and the play-offs conducted in much the same manner as those of the Alberta Hockey Association, with perhaps the citizens of Red Deer are more familiar.

City League Will Be Formed

As last year, a local city league will be formed, so as to include all players who will take a hand in the game. The year the High School, Mercantile and K.P.s composed this league. The school team can be counted on to enter again, the K.P.s have also indicated their intention to participate, and it is doubtful at least one of the following officers were elected: President—Dr. J. B. DeLong, Vice-President—Dr. B. DeLong, Sec.—Treas.—R. Capstick.

Manager—J. C. Patton. N. W. Allen, C. H. Brewerton, C. Carwell. Official scorer—Reg. Taylor. Manager—Geo. By.

We are pleased at the decision of the club to play amateur ball. Although tried every two or three years, semi-pro sport has been a failure in more ways than one, and we think the public generally will generously support the amateur effort. The club has for the love of the game, and as such the club and players will receive the support of the public in all endeavoring to put baseball over in Red Deer this summer.

With the first real warm weather the boys will be out on the lot. Get out and look them over and let them know you are interested.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

A meeting of the Red Deer Agricultural Society was held on Saturday afternoon last in the city hall. There was a good turnout of directors, present, with President Donald Smith in the chair, and acting secretary Bjorkeland taking the minutes.

After considerable correspondence had been read and discussed, the meeting took up the question of the government grant and change in the constitution of the society. The discussion led up to the conclusion that if the society complied with the terms of the grant, it would be impossible for the society to earn the government grant, and therefore, it was decided to accept a big prize list as had been done in the past, and the prize list would drop into a pot.

A motion was passed instructing the secretary to get in touch with the Minister of Agriculture and with the object of interviewing the Minister of Agriculture and seeing if something could be done to help the B Class out of its apparent difficult position.

On the suggestion of E. S. Hogg, a committee was appointed to consider the advisability of holding some time in the month of June a demonstration to raise funds to help along the prize list.

The prize list committee and other standing committees were appointed with very slight alterations from last year.

The meeting adjourned to Saturday, 21st April, at 8 p.m., in the city hall.

Ernie Beckett was taken to the Memorial Hospital on Monday and operated on for appendicitis. The operation was successful, and he is going as well as could be expected.

"Mother of Screen" is Coming in New Play

"Silver Wings," featuring Mary Carr, the picture William Fox chose to open his Broadway season and which enjoyed a successful six months run on the Broadway stage, is coming to the Rex Theatre Friday and Saturday.

Mary Carr, known as "the sweetest mother in all the world," has in this new production, the role of a mother who spurs the rod and spurs the child—the child in this case being a selfish son who browbeats a loving sister and brother. His arrogance leads the mother to sacrifice the fruits of years of labor in order to clear his name from a stigma.

SAM'S WILD-HORSE RIDE

By Herbert Coolidge

We were trapping wild horses in Arizona; unbroken mustangs were worth then from twenty-five to thirty dollars a head. But more than all the mustangs that we could see we wanted Iron Grey, the wild stallion. If you could have seen him running with his mane and tail flying in the wind, you would know why. And this time we knew we had him.

It was at the end of the third dry year, and Coyote Springs was the only place where wild horses could water for a hundred miles round. When we had barricaded the canon above the pool and had built the strongest kind of gate where the walls pinched close together, just below it we concluded that we had a trap that would hold anything.

When we were finishing the gate a lone prospector came along. He had seen Apache signal smokes. "I'm travelling light myself," he said, "because I'm carrying around a couple of Apache bullets already."

I had had an Apache bullet cut out of my leg and was a bit shy of Indians, but of course Dugan, my partner, who was considered as the meanest man in Arizona to travel with, began to mount about not being afraid of Apaches. Sam, who was Dugan's nephew, didn't have much to say; and that was just like him.

A couple of days later we sighted Iron Grey's band of mares skirting the edge of Big Snake Basin; they were too thrifty to wait until night and they were heading straight for the springs. We buried Sam, all but his nose and his eyes in the sand near the gate. Then Dugan and I climbed up high and hid among the rocks.

Iron Grey's band came warily up the canon and still more warily passed the gate. After snorting and passing round for a while, the horse cut a great flourish and charged straight on to the pool. The moment Iron Grey dipped his nose to the water Sam sprang up and closed the gate.

Dugan and I, never dreaming of passing round for a while, the horse cut a great flourish and charged straight on to the pool. The moment Iron Grey dipped his nose to the water Sam sprang up and closed the gate.

that other saddle-marked horse, so we won't be on foot.

The band of mustangs tore out of the canon like a whirlwind. While they were still pulling out through the gate, Dugan and I slackened the reins that held the stallion. Then as Iron Grey struggled to his feet Sam settled into the saddle.

They were off like a shot, that tail, determined boy riding as light as a bird and Iron Grey with his white tail flowing straight out behind. When they swept round the first curve I turned and said, "Dugan, that boy might win!"

Dugan shook his head. But after a while he said, "Oh, he's got a chance, if he can head the bunch out on the basin and lose them on the level." Quickly then he added, "Look there!"

Racing up the side of the canon straight for the high peak one mare and then another and another disappeared; and then the white mare, flying like a banner came Iron Grey, Sam, sitting as light as a bird in the saddle, was laying on with his quirt.

"Dugan," I said, "got your horse and let's go. That boy deserves a decent burial."

I learned later that at that moment Sam had much the same thought that I had. When he was riding down the canon and saw the mares turning off up the slope he thought he saw his finish. Then he remembered that there was a fair-shoulder up and along the canon rim, and he knew that with good luck he could circle his mount gradually away from the high peak and leave his mares behind him.

The foremost mare in the bunch was a hundred feet behind Sam before he saw her. Then he saw Iron Grey was climbing the brush and rocks like a greyhound. Now, like any runaway horse, he was running blindly.

It was fairly good going on the top, and Sam, hauling on the backmarkers and leaving his mares behind him, he had managed to head the stallion round toward Big Snake Basin. Now he had the satisfaction of knowing that he was riding, and mightily fast too, in the direction of the settlers where you could descend even on a gentle, well-trodden horse. It looked much as if Sam were riding for a fall.

As Iron Grey tore on across the mesa Sam kept racking his brain, trying to remember just where the worst cliffs were along the rim out ahead. Finally he gave up trying, and for a moment despair seized him. Then of a sudden every vestige of fear and worry left him. He had been in light places before and had got out of them. He would get out of this one—somehow.

He didn't want Iron Grey to heel—didn't want him when he got to the edge of the rim; and he knew that no matter what was below a horse would jump. He would never make nor break him. So when he was pretty close he laid on the quirt. Then he begged him to spur into his forward climb and with his quirt hand "grabbed leather."

The next moment Iron Grey sped to the edge of the rim and with a snort and a great forward bound leaped over. There was a jump-off there, but it was a jump-off of a different kind. Iron Grey's feet hit the ground and he was in a place where the churning bands of wild horses were still and he was up to the top of the cliff. Then he landed on the slope. All the boy knew then was that he was riding and that he was down over hard riding and brush and that there was the rim of a cliff two hundred yards below. He perceived that he was riding and that he was down over hard riding and brush and that there was the rim of a cliff two hundred yards below.

Then as suddenly as things happen when you're riding a horse down a hill, Sam's stallion leaped over a ledge and landed with a great scattering of rocks in a shale slide. The slide was about ten feet wide, and the stallion, sinking into it to his knees, settled back on his haunches to keep from falling over.

A horse always seeks firm footing; a slide is something he despises. But Sam knew that a slide is a place where a horse can descend a hill with little chance of hurting himself or his rider. So when Iron Grey tried to founder out, Sam with a sudden deft pull on the hackamore rein jerked him back and he came straight forward. The slide ended in a broad notch in the rim of the cliff, and the boy instantly chose it for better footing.

Iron Grey plunged downward, scattering piles of shale in all directions. Whether it was chance or fate, he found himself to turn off to either side, but Sam, jerking on the hackamore rein and at just the right moment, kept him going straight ahead.

As they neared the notch in the rim of the cliff the broad slide, flowing downward out ahead, sent a great stream of fragments over the edge. Whether it was chance or fate, he found himself to turn off to either side, but Sam, jerking on the hackamore rein and at just the right moment, kept him going straight ahead.

When he was almost on the brink, Iron Grey sank belly-deep into the slide, and Sam, who had stepped out of the saddle. But he stayed in—and gave the stallion his quirt. With a snort and a lunge Iron Grey gathered himself; then, finding firm footing there at the edge, he made a splendid flying leap. Down down they went with Sam's saddle strings and Iron Grey's money mane floating straight upward. It was a sheer jump of fifteen feet, but they landed on shale.

Iron Grey, with the wild goat's faculty for landing from high places—which is also the wild horse's—managed somehow to keep himself from keeling over. Then, aroused by a sudden sharp cut of Sam's quirt, he broke floundered down another hundred feet of shale and sped on down a long rocky slope to the edge of the desert.

Dugan and I tracked the boy across the high rim of the rim of Big Snake Basin. And there, looking off across the haze of the basin, we saw a lone line of smoke rising from the desert. Raging at the apex of it was the wild stallion; his tail and mane were floating back like two snowy clouds, and Sam was sitting as light as a feather in the saddle.

Yes, Sam beat the Apaches to the settlement—he passed the Indians in the night—and the Indians got a warm reception. I gave my share of Iron Grey to Sam, and Dugan, who had his share also. But Sam finally decided that the stallion was like a cobra, no tame, except in a cage. So he turned him loose.

Here and There

Gold production in Canada in 1922 passed the million ounce mark for the first time since 1902.

Public works to be undertaken in Vancouver this year will cost in the neighborhood of $10,000,000, of which $3,000,000 will be spent by the Canadian Pacific Railway on pier construction.

The Canadian Pacific steamship Montcalm carried 900 emigrants for Canada on her last voyage from Liverpool, the largest number of emigrants to leave that port this year.

Work was commenced last week on the new elevator at the Ballantyne pier, Vancouver, which will cost approximately $2,000,000 to complete. The new elevator will have a storage capacity of 1,500,000 bushels.

Three thousand seven hundred licensed grain elevators in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta have a total storage capacity of over 100,000,000 bushels. Ontario, Quebec and Maritime provinces have storage elevators with capacity up to 33,180,000 bushels.

The first lodge of Free and Accepted Masons in the history of the Merchant Marine World, was recently organized on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France, when cruising the Mediterranean Sea with a party of 500 Canadian and United States tourists.

Four thousand seven hundred and eighty-four cars of last season's fruit crop have been shipped out of the Okanagan district and British Columbia up to February 14th, according to a statement made by the Vancouver Board of Trade recently by F. W. Peters, general superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, B.C. division.

Sault Ste. Marie—"The new downtown ticket and telegraph office of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Dominion Express Company at the corner of Queen and McDougall streets in the building formerly occupied by the Public Utilities Commission, is one of the finest in the province. There are some larger offices in the larger cities, but none that are better equipped.

Herald Rindal, divisional engineer for the Canadian Pacific Railway, who has been located at Vancouver for the past thirteen years, and F. W. Alexander, divisional engineer for Alberta at Calgary, have exchanged posts, it being the company's policy to develop its engineers by giving them experience with the varying conditions in different parts of the Dominion.

A number of western interests have combined and chartered the Canadian Pacific steamship Pretorian, and the vessel will sail from Vancouver on August 1st for Fort Churchill, for the purpose of proving to the satisfaction of the interested parties whether or not conditions of navigation to and from Hudson's Bay can be made a commercial success. Between summer and four hundred passengers from the west will make the trip.

J. S. Brown, president of the Brown Fruit Company of Edmonton, Alta., returned on the Metagama last week from a three months' visit to Europe. He was present in Germany when the French invaded the Ruhr, and he said that the feeling was very bitter between the two races. On the other hand, a Canadian, American or British was given a cordial welcome; this being largely due to a speech in which Lloyd George advocated a compromise. Travel in Germany, he said, was surprisingly cheap, he having made one trip in nearly 150 miles for the sum of fifty cents in Canadian currency.

When the Canadian Pacific steamer Metagama, which left St. John's on March 1st for Glasgow, reaches her destination, Captain G. B. Evans, O.B.E., her commander, will have completed his last voyage in command of the vessel. Captain Evans, who is the oldest and one of the most highly esteemed commanders in the service of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Limited, is retiring after a career at sea of 48 years, during which time he crossed the Atlantic in command 578 times, and conveyed 247,223 passengers, of whom 7,000 were Canadian and American troops. He was in command of the Misamis when this ship was sunk by a German in 1918, and he will be remembered by many passengers as the captain of the Misamis, the Montcalm or the Empress of Scotland.

MILITARY RANK
A Northerner met a colonel from the Southern States and interestedly asked him if he had served in the war between the States. "No, sir," was the Southerner's laconic reply. "Oh, the Spanish War?" "No, sir." "Not the World War, surely?" "No, sir." "The Northerner drew breath and cast about. "The National Guard?" "No, sir." "Perhaps you were on the Governor's staff?" hopefully suggested the Northerner.

"No, sir," was the inevitable response. "I see," said the man from the North, "they call you a colonel because you come from Kentucky." But even this ingenious conjecture was contradicted by the usual reply of the "colonel."

"Then would you mind telling me the answer?" the interrogator persisted. "Well, sir, I reckon I just inherited that title to speak, from my wife's first husband."

LATEST NEWS

The grand total of expenditures of the provincial highways board of Nova Scotia for the year ending Dec. 31, 1921, was $3,158,931.96. It has been announced.

Sir Robert Borden was elected president of the Canadian Red Cross society at the annual meeting of the central council at Toronto Tuesday.

There are persistent rumors current in Quebec that negotiations are on foot for the release of the prisoners of war. A quantity of well equipped men should be worked into the soil every year. If the garden is a small one, where only manual labor is used, the spreading should be thoroughly done and the soil worked down as soon as possible after spading. The spreading can often be used to advantage to dig up the garden. Another garden tool that soon pays for itself is the wheel hoe. This implement, run close to the rows when the plants first appear, destroys the weeds quite close in, and thus lessens the amount of weeding. In order to use the wheeled hoe to advantage, it is advisable to have the vegetables in straight rows. Sowing radish or turnip seed with slower germinating seed will permit earlier cultivation of the spaces between the rows and early destruction of weeds means less labor. Spread over a period of ten years the cost of this weeder would only be about eight cents a year.

Planting the seeds at the right time is important. Peas, onions, garlands, carrots, etc., can be planted quite early. Beans, cucumbers, pumpkins and other frost-sensitive vegetables should be sown to have the young plants break through the ground just before the danger of frost is over. Between the time of seeding the first vegetables and the more tender kinds, beans, corn and numerous other vegetables can be sown.

For many years the Experimental Farms have been making tests of varieties of vegetables. The results of these experiments are published in the annual reports issued by each State.

To illustrate the necessity of selecting suitable varieties, the results of some experiments conducted at the Scott Station last year might be quoted. Masterpiece beans gave eleven times the yield obtained from Refugee or from the variety known as 1090 to 1. A select strain of Detroit Dark Red beans gave almost double the yield secured from Long Smooth Blood Red variety. The Kidnapper cabbage gave nearly twice the yield secured from Succession. Howes Alberta Flint table corn gave about eight times the yield of Golden Bantam, a variety of excellent quality but too late for this district. The best yielding varieties of tomatoes gave practically double the yields obtained from the poorer sorts. The same was true with the varieties of potatoes tested. While much depends on the strain of seed secured, there are certain varieties of excellent quality that year after year continue to give better returns than any other kinds.

The season for fresh vegetables can be lengthened and the profit from the garden increased by purchasing seed of more than one variety of such vegetables as beans, peas, corn, lettuce and cabbage. Improved Golden Wax beans at Scott in 1922 were fit for use on August 3rd; while Masterpiece, the best late variety, were not fit for use until nine days later. In the tests with garden peas, the best varieties were King of the North, July 27th; Reliance between July 27th and Aug. 4th; and Stratagem, July 29th and August 9th. These four varieties planted would give a splendid succession of green peas. The test with garden corn showed Howes' Alberta Flint ready for use August 19th; Pickanilly, August 24th; and Sweet Sweet, Sept. 6th. Iceberg lettuce was ready for use July 10th; Denver's Market, July 15th; and One Triumphant, July 25th. The Early Jersey Wakefield and Early Paris Market cabbage are always the first two sorts ready for use. Copenhagen Market follows. Later, while Kidnapper and Danish Ballhead make two good sorts for storing for winter.

While much vegetables are best saved by preserving. This can be accomplished by canning, drying, or, with some vegetables, by fermentation and salting.

The Dominion Experimental Farms Bulletin No. 93 gives some interesting information on this subject. This bulletin, as well as the Reports from the Branch Stations can be secured by applying to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture; the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa; or any of the Branch Experimental Farms.

PRINCESS MARY'S SON IS CHRISTENED
The infant son of Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles was christened on March 25 by the Archbishop of York in the presence of King George and Queen Mary and villagers and tenants and dependents of the Harwood estate of Viscount Lascelles, who were given the preference over visitors to the village devious of witnessing the ceremony. The infant was given the name of George Henry Hubert Lascelles.

MAKING THE VEGETABLE GARDEN A PROFITABLE INVESTMENT

"Thorough preparation of the soil before planting time is greatly increased crop yields and by utilizing labor later requirements. The garden should be well ploughed and sufficient surface tillage given to eliminate hard labor to the greatest extent possible. A quantity of well equipped men should be worked into the soil every year. If the garden is a small one, where only manual labor is used, the spreading should be thoroughly done and the soil worked down as soon as possible after spading. MUNICIPAL MEETING AT EVARTS

Councillor Isaacson called a meeting of the council of Division 4, M.P.D. of Golden West, at Evarts on Saturday to discuss road work, road foremen, and other matters affecting the jurisdiction. Mr. V. B. Buchanan, Bonito, was appointed secretary.

A motion was passed leaving to the judgment of Mr. Isaacson the question of opening a road leading south from the south end, south of the Canadian Pacific right-of-way. The appointment of road foremen was also left in Mr. Isaacson's hands. The meeting, supported a motion that the ratemakers who work out their road taxes be allowed an eight-hour day, instead of the ten hour day, as formerly. Further, that 24 hours' notice be given by the road foremen to the working out of road taxes by phone or otherwise, and if same was not answered within that time, a second notice be given; if the second notice is not answered, it is to be understood that the taxpayer wishes to pay his taxes in cash.

Mr. Isaacson was also requested to endeavor to have the municipal mill rate reduced from six mills to four mills, and to support in the Council the following resolution:—"That this Council request the Provincial Government through only its member, to introduce the following amendment to the Tax Recovery Act: In section 12, sub-section 1, of the Tax Recovery Act be amended by substituting the words 'five years' for the words 'one year' where these words occur in the first and second lines of the said sub-section."

The effect of such a modification of the Act would be to give the owner arrears five years to redeem before the M.D. takes title, instead of one year. Mr. Isaacson's course in endeavoring publicly to ascertain the will of the people in these matters was much appreciated by the meeting, which will attend, and a cordial vote of thanks was extended to him.

Here and There

It is announced that a new cave, the extent of which can only be surmised, has been discovered seven miles from Glacier House, Glacier, B.C.

The Yukon Territory is rapidly losing its inhabitants. In 1911 the population was 27,217, and in 1921 it had dwindled down to 4,157.

In an address to the Romanians in Montreal last week, E. J. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, made a pointed statement to the effect that Canada needs more capital for its development and more men for the same purpose.

An old-time stampede will be held in Calgary, Alta., between July 5th and July 14th, 1923. The programme will include calf roping, broncho busting, and fancy riding and roping, etc.

Resumption of direct steamship service this spring between Montreal and the principal European ports, with the object of furthering the expansion of trade between Canada and Norway, is announced by the Canadian Pacific traffic agents for the Norwegian-American Line.

The Canadian Pacific steamship "Metagama" recently brought over to Canada 400 men and women of the Hebrides—the first migration of young Hebrides farmers to Canada since the Ontario immigration scheme.

A bill has been introduced into the Chamber of Deputies, Paris, authorizing the Government to expend $750,000 francs on the Canadian travelling exhibition. At least thirty French towns will be visited by the train this summer.

As guests of President Beatty of the Canadian Pacific Railway, four boys members of the young farmers clubs of Great Britain will cross the Atlantic today to the Eastern and Western provinces of Canada.

Canada's exports to the United Kingdom in 1922 were more than $24,000,000 higher in value than exports of Canadian goods to the United States. To the United Kingdom, Canada sold goods to the value of $274,751,884, and to the United States $240,160,247.

Before the war India imported $600,000,000 worth of commodities a year, of which Canada sent not more than $30,000 worth. Last year her imports were $200,000,000, of which Canada sent $11,225,000, and it is now expected that there will be further increase to between $25,000,000 and $50,000,000 this year.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has arranged with a number of European countries for the emigration of farmers and domestics who are willing to come to Canada for employment on Canadian farms. The immigrants will be brought to Canada at the joint expense of their home governments and the railway company.

The first successful radio experiment on a movie long-distance railway train was recently carried out on a Canadian Pacific Railway train from Winnipeg to Vancouver. Mr. Raymond Wylie installed a receiving set in the drawing room of the through sleeping car, and the aerial was installed by the railway electrical department. The results were all that could be desired.

Seeing the train swaying as it passed her while she was picking berries was the reason why Mrs. Fred Mueller, of Branner, Ont., would not take a ride on a train. But after she had returned to West Monkton from Elmira she told W. C. Gowan, the Canadian Pacific agent at the former station, that she thoroughly enjoyed the sensation of travelling for the first time on a train, which did not go fast enough for her.

IS A CHANGE COMING IN THE BEEF INDUSTRY?

Western cattle raisers have paid Uncle Sam a sum bordering on $720,000 since the new tariff became effective on September 21. This amount was collected through the 1½ cent per pound duty, paid on 60,000 head of Canadian cattle shipped across the border in the past three months. Will this amount deducted from the cost of shipping to Great Britain enable the producer to reap any greater returns by sending to that market? If it will, then it is likely that a healthy export trade will develop now the embargo is removed. There will be a difference between the British trade and the U. S. trade, however, that needs to be kept in mind. The British stock feeder has not the large supplies of cheap corn and rough fodder that the U. S. feeder uses so liberally. He depends more upon oats and barley and supplies of commercial feed such as oil cake, with roots as the chief roughage. He wants, therefore, an animal of larger growth and nearer market condition than the U. S. feeder usually buys. Another big consideration in the case of stock sent over is the cost of shipping space. This is sold generally at a stated rate per head as are several other expenses connected with the export trade, naturally then the heavier the animal the less expense there will be per pound. We are informed that British cattle traders are coming over shortly to buy Canadian store cattle and that they will supply full information as to the grades of cattle wanted. To meet their demands may necessitate a change in present methods of growing out the young stock. It may even require extensive adoption of winter feeding but the present condition of the beef raising industry is such that a change of some kind is due in any case, and a move that leads to a greater consumption of fodder crops and coarse grains on the farm is pretty certain to be in the right direction. Beef, milk and bacon cost more to produce but they will sell for more money and increase instead of decrease the value of the farm from which they come.

OLEOMARGARINE VOTE SHOULD BE CONDEMNED

Central and Northern Alberta are noted as mixed farming sections of our province, and without doubt the strongest factor as a money-maker and mortgage-lender is the dairying industry.

Although we have a farmer government, a government that should above all things stand shoulder to shoulder behind the farmer and the dairying industry, the greatest blow ever administered to this industry was given when the majority vote was passed favoring the manufacture and importation of oleomargarine into Canada without payment of duty on the manufactured article or on the raw materials which are used in the production of the substitute.

The strongest argument used in favor of this substitute was that it was good food for the poor, who could not afford to buy butter, and was practically as good as butter as a body builder.

One of the most convincing tests made with oleomargarine as a substitute for butter, was carried on at the Jewish orphanage at Rochester, N.Y., where in 1917 it was decided to change from butter to oleomargarine for six months, but at the end of that period butter was again supplied.

Seven children, whose average age was 11 years, were fed on a uniform diet, except that butter was fed them in the first six-month period and then replaced by oleomargarine the second six-month period. During the third six-month period butter was again furnished; otherwise the diet remained the same.

The average gain made by each child in the first period with butter was 6.32 pounds. During the second period, with oleomargarine, there was no gain but an average loss of 1.36 pounds. With butter restored for the third period there was a gain of 8.12 pounds. Oleomargarine may look like butter, it may taste almost like butter—but it is a substitute at best. Growing children lose weight on it instead of the natural increase that might be expected.

Why should the health of a nation be imperilled by the use of an article that is in competition with one of the products of the country—a product that is nourishing and palatable?

Of course, the provincial government has no power to allow oleomargarine in duty free, but their vote strengthens the hands of the Liberal government at Ottawa, which favors protection to the manufacturers of the east to the detriment of the west, while it favors free trade where it will benefit the east to the detriment of western trade.

IMMIGRATION

A writer in a prominent paper in Ontario says:

Immigration has been and may be again probably the most potent factor in determining the quality of the future population of Canada. If it is to be fostered or regulated in the interests of justice, and in such a manner as will ensure us a steady flow of desirable stock, the task must be undertaken by our legislators with vigor and without prejudice.

Immigration has changed the United States in the last fifty years from a small country with ten million people to one of the greatest countries on the face of the earth with over a hundred million people.

No country that is a country can long survive a shutting out of the peoples of the earth.

A steady flow of immigrants is absolutely necessary to our well being and prosperity. It is one of our most vital problems.

We do not want undesirable. But we do want tens of thousands of honest, hard-working men and women to people the great expanse of vacant land in this western country.

CONSIDER THE EDITOR

"Consider the editor," says an exchange. "He wears purple and fine linen. His abode is among the mansions of the rich. His wife has her limousine and his first-born sports a racing car that can hit her up to forty feet."

"Lo, all the people breaketh their neck to hand him money."

"A child is born unto the wife of a merchant in a bazaar. The physician gets 25 golden pounds. The editor writeth a stick and a half and telleth the multitude that the child tipped the beam at 9 pounds. Yes, he lieth, even as a centurion—and the happy father giveth him a cigar."

"Behold, the young one groweth up and gradueth. And the editor putteth in his paper a swell notice. Yes, a peach of a notice. He telleth of the wisdom of the young woman and her comeliness. Like unto the roses of Sharon is she, and her gown is played up to her knees. And the dressmaker getteth two scores and a half from men and the editor getteth a note of thanks from the S. G. G."

The daughter goeth on a journey and the editor thrusteth himself into the story of a farewell party. It runneth a column solid, and the fair one remembereth him from afar with a postcard that costs six for a flimsy.

Behold, she returneth, and the youth of the place fall down and worship. She picketh one, and lo, she picketh a lemon. But the editor calleth him one of the most promising young men, and getteth away with it. And they send unto him a bid to the wedding feast, and lo, the bride is printed at a Winstone mail order house. Flowery and long is the wedding notice the editor printeth. The minister getteth ten bones and the groom standeth the editor off with a 12 months subscription.

"All flesh is grass and in time the wife is gathered into the silo. The minister getteth his bit. The editor printeth a death notice, two columns of an obituary, three lodge notices, a cubit of poetry and a card of thanks. And he forgetteth to read proof on the head and the darn thing comes out, 'Gone to Her Last Roasting Place.'"

"And all that are akin to the deceased jump on the editor with exceeding great jumps. And they pull out their ads. and cancel their subscriptions, and they swing the hammer unto the third and fourth generations."

"Canst thou beat it?"

It's a strange coincidence that the members of the Alberta legislature should decide that there was necessity for a home for mental defectives nearer the capital city than the present Ponoka institution.—Blairmore Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A proclamation has been issued making the King's birthday, June 3rd, a national holiday, and it will be observed in the future. As the 3rd of June this year falls on Sunday, the day will be observed on Monday, June 4th.

Battling Sild broke a waiter's jaw in France, but deserves no credit. A man in Halifax broke his own jaw yawning.

Dr. Cook, of North Pole fame, has been arrested in connection with an oil swindle in Fort Worth, Texas.

It is reported that American doctors have utilized fluid taken from the adrenal glands to resuscitate persons who have been dead for as long as thirty minutes.

The discovery that persons who have been pronounced dead can be resuscitated by this means is not of great benefit except in the rare cases when the cause of death can be at once removed. But it is another great step forward in the already great progress made in the study of the various glands and their secretions.

It is a pity that while some scientists are doing so much along the above lines for so little remuneration, a far greater number of drug manufacturing concerns are taking advantage of the interest aroused in the public by the discoveries to flood the market with patent medicines containing or supposed to contain gland secretions.

Fort William shows the way in municipal abattoir administration. It rents a plant from private owners and last year showed a cash profit to the city of $1975 over and above the cost of rental, salaries, supervision and upkeep. The city has avoided capital investment for a municipal abattoir. That it is fulfilling its purpose, is evidenced by the years work: Animals slaughtered, 3,558; meat condemned as unfit, 4,645 pounds.

The Health Department's annual report states that the people of the city are being fully protected.

The Health Department demands that all local animals for human consumption in the city, be killed at the city abattoir, by the city's own men, at the meat at cost. This insures proper inspection and provides the money necessary to conduct this Public Health activity.

TOO MUCH

Sam Johnson, of Galveston, Tex., had just lost his better half. A friend who enquired why he was leaving town was told, "I don't know just what I will do, Ratnas, but I reckon I'll become a Mormon."

"A Mormon?" his friend expostulated with true Methodist horror. "What for you want to be a Mormon?"

"Well," said Sam, sadly, "I reckon it keeps me from having to be too hard to feed a heavy eater like myself."

Red Deer Municipal Hospital

IMPORTANT NOTICE

All those living in the City of Red Deer, rate-payers or otherwise, wishing to take advantage of Municipal Hospital service, must pay their Hospital Tax before May 1st, in order to obtain the $1.00 per day rate.

The aim of the Municipal Hospital is to give Hospital benefits, at the $1.00 per day rate, to every individual in the City of Red Deer. The $6.00 tax is to be paid for his or her family by the adult head of the family, whether a property owner or not, and by other adult persons, male or female, residing in the City who wish to take advantage of the Hospital service.

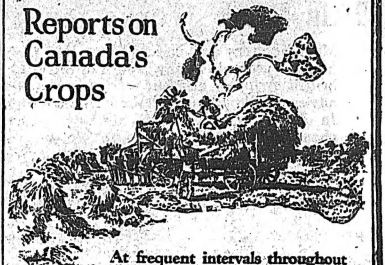

Those who pay taxes are urged to get in touch with the City Office and determine whether or not the amount of Hospital Taxes levied against their property meets the $6.00 minimum hospital tax. In case it does not, they must pay the difference between the amount levied and the $6.00 minimum by May 1st, in order to benefit by the $1.00 per day rate.

Non-property owners, resident of the City of Red Deer, must pay their $6.00 in full by May 1st.

CONDOR U.F.A.

A meeting of the Condor U.F.A. Local was held in the Condor Community hall on Saturday, March 31. As the ostensible reason for this meeting was to listen to a lecture given by Mr. Moore, the business was despatched as briefly as possible. Mr. Moore's lecture, the subject of which was "Profits from a Dairy Herd," was very interesting and should prove to be invaluable to those farmers who choose to take his advice to heart. He showed by a diagram the good results to be obtained by careful breeding and fine feeding of dairy cows. At the conclusion of his address, he was given a hearty vote of thanks by H. Meers for his very instructive talk on the dairy industry, after which, on the motion of W. Warden and H. Hewson, the meeting adjourned till the last Saturday in April.

Fire Insurance
As the Board's insurance was mostly falling due this month, the Finance Committee which had given investigation to the matter of insurance last fall, was directed to deal with the allotment of renewal policies.

Case of Suspension
Central School Principal McKenzie reported suspension of Doris Grimmon from Grade 8, with reasons of conduct therefrom. Mr. A. T. Stephenson, chairman of committee on Boys' Work of the Rotary Club, recounted some of this youth's life-conditions and agreed to become in a measure responsible for him, if the suspension was lifted until the summer holidays at least, as the lad had agreed to attend more seriously to his studies and not to cause annoyance to his teachers. The matter will be dealt with at a fuller meeting of the Board.

Unexpected Advertising on Scribbles Considerable comment was made by the Trustees over the publication of an advt. of Allin & Stephens on the scribbles supplied by them as being unjust to other tenderers, inasmuch as a plain sample cover was furnished to all, and the plain cover had always been the rule. The following record was placed on the minutes: "It was brought to our attention that the scribbles furnished by Allin & Stephens bear an advertisement of the firm upon the cover, which was not contemplated by the Board in placing the order. The covers were specified to be plain. The Board does not approve of lending the school supplies to the purpose of advertising any business in the city."

Principal's Report for March
Miss Irving's room was closed for one week because of her illness, and all other rooms were in operation for 31 teaching days. Total pupils on register was 639, the daily average 576.76 and percentage was 83.25. Mr. McKenzie's room had the best record of attendance (94.86 per cent).

NO EVIDENCE FOUND AGAINST KLAN

The vote was said to be 10 to 2 against indictments.

BRITAIN PAYS WELL FOR FIRST CANADA CATTLE

Many Buyers Meet Ship: Sell Hundred Head in Twenty-five Minutes

Ottawa, April 7.—The first shipments of Canadian stocker cattle to Great Britain realized high prices, according to cables received at the department of agriculture from Duncan Marshall, commissioner of agriculture, who met the first shipment at Glasgow.

The Canadian cattle were met by a large crowd of buyers and at the Merkinde sale the first hundred head found buyers in 25 minutes and 221 head were sold in one hour and twenty minutes. Prices ranged from $24 each for four head, to $30, 7a average for 40 head. A lot of 101 steers averaged 12-14 cents a pound; 50 steers from the United Grain Growers, 12-35 cents a pound, and 40 from the Harris shippers, 13½ cents a pound. Quotations at Toronto yesterday for stocker cattle ranged from 6½ to 7½ cents a pound and top price fat cattle brought 8 cents. The cost of shipping the cattle to Britain, including railway transportation in Canada, would average about $45 a head, leaving a rough average price a head for 1,000 pound steers of $100 to the shipper from Canada.

Activities
Thirty-five Cub boys have enrolled since the Pack was organized. There are at present twenty-five active members, some having left the city, transferred to the Scouts, or left on reaching age limit. Forty meetings have been held, the average attendance being 20 boys. One Church Parade was held, and the Pack turned out on the occasion of the visit of His Excellency the Governor-General. Two Investitures were held, at which members were admitted to the Pack on making the Cub promise. Several competitions were held during the winter, one of which benefited the Memorial Hospital by a number of scrap books for the child patients. Dwight Strong was the first boy to pass the tests and be awarded the 1st Star. Weekend camps were arranged on two occasions, but the weather each time was unpropitious; and the camp had to be put off. Thirteen boys have been awarded the 1st Star, some have passed the preliminary tests for 2nd Star, and only two or three boys are without uniform. Expenditure has been confined to only necessary badges, books, test cards, etc.; it is hoped to have sufficient in hand soon to purchase a tent for week end camping. The Pack requires a Totem Pole, on which Pack Honors (Proficiency Badges, etc.) are hung, and which is carried at the head of the Pack on parades, and is placed in a conspicuous place in camp. As the Pack is now over strength, new boys will be taken on as probationers, and enrolled as vacancies occur in the Pack. Membership in this Pack is confined to boys who live south of Ross St. and includes West Park.

NEW DEAL FOR ALBERTA DAIRY INTERESTS

After Much Intelligent Effort in Rejuvenation of Dairying in Province, Members Take Remarkable Stand
—Only Four U.P.A. Men Favor
Abolishing Subsidy.

Market Examiner, Calgary.
It is somewhat surprising to learn that after the members of the provincial house has listened to the budget speech of the premier, in which he commented on the large increase in the butter production of the province and the necessity of finding a market for our yearly increasing surplus, that the members, and the premier himself, voted down a motion which was presented asking that the Dominion government should prohibit the sale of the butter-substitute in Canada.
It would be very pretty to suggest that the farmer members voted against the resolution because it was introduced by a Liberal member, Joe Dechene, of Beaver River, but it has something of that appearance.

There was a lot of discussion on the principles of free trade, according to newspaper reports of the debate, and apparently with the mistaken idea that they were upholding free trade, the U.P.A. members with four exceptions—Milne, Moore, McKean and Soars—voted against the measure.
Until there is free trade, until the farmer of Alberta gets the benefits which they believe that condition would bring them—why do they want to handicap themselves by inviting unfair competition against one of their own products?

If the duty was removed on the manufactured articles which the farmers have to buy it would be fair enough to ask for the removal of the articles which they themselves produce and sell on the open market.
But last year there was duty paid on over $100,000,000 worth of goods brought into Canada, and the farmers have to pay their share of it.
In the case of oleomargarine the situation is considerably worse than it is in a lot of other commodities, for the raw products which are included in the manufacture of the greasy substitute are first taxed and then the tax is returned to the manufacturers.

During 1922 there was nearly 2,000,000 pounds of oleomargarine made in Canada. Nearly a million pounds was imported on which no duty was paid. In various oils and other ingredients which are made up to look like butter there was over 2,000,000 pounds imported on which approximately 50 percent of the tax was returned.

Through some mistaken idealism, some adherence to the doctrine of free trade, whose advent is, to say the noisy time followed, which will be

Patrons of grocery stores will probably have observed displayed in the stores a sign reading "Vegetables Sold by Weight and Grade." The Root Vegetables Act, 1922. Those who have made purchases of vegetables since this act has been displayed will have noticed that these products are no longer sold by measure and without reference to grade, as has been the case in the past.

For the information of readers of this paper, it is pointed out that the vegetables that have to be sold by weight are potatoes, onions, artichokes, beets, carrots, turnips and parsnips.
When any of these are sold with the top leaves still attached, they are excluded from the operation of the act. Other exceptions include potatoes sold in closed barrels, and potatoes shipped between the 1st of June and the end of September, and potatoes. The act also regulates the marking and packing as well as the size of the potato barrel.

We learn from statistics supplied by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, that, despite the new United States tariff, our export of butter to that country in January, 1923, was greater than in the corresponding month of last year, being 41,466 lbs.
against 155,528 lbs. For the ten months ending January 31, 1923, it was, however, somewhat less than in the corresponding ten months ending on the same date in 1922, being 2,320,544 lbs. against 2,894,563 lbs.
Cheese was much in excess in 1922-23 of 1921-22, being 5,380,500 lbs. compared with 2,564,844 lbs. So, too, was the export over the border of powdered milk, 1,472,653 lbs. against 322,185 lbs.

WHY FARMER GOVERNMENT IS FALLING DOWN

Comparison of Salaries in 1919 and 1923 Are Given in Table

Edmonton, April 3.—It is no official secret that when W. M. Davidson, independent member for Calgary, and Nellie McClung, one of the Liberal members for Edmonton, advocated during the contributions to the budget debate last week a deep slashing of the legislative indemnity of $2,000, they treaded on delicate ground.

Open charges have been made by some of the members that these speakers "broke faith" in regard to the "understanding" on the question of indemnities. It is rumored that amongst a large number of the members there was some sort of an informal agreement that the outside clamor for a reduction in the legislative indemnities would not be mentioned in the house this year with any degree of indefiniteness.

The estimates themselves, as tabled by the premier, revealed the reduction. The premier's budget speech barely touched on the question of indemnities, hinting that a reduction would be an opportune time to discuss decreases. On the heels of this suspicious introduction came the bombshell suggestion of Mr. Davidson that the indemnity be slashed to $1,500 this year.

Interesting to compare the indemnities cost of $122,000 this year with the $35,000 voted in 1919, and in many other respects the government's shifty dials of 1919 were meagre as compared with the high level renum-erations of 1923 and 1922.

Comparison of Salaries
The following comparison of 1919 salaries with those of 1923, as shown in the estimates, while not including all government services, such as the university, telephone and other departments, suffices for an example of how in most cases all revision has been upward in spite of increasing budget deficits.

the lists show a bewildering array of

One of the indications as to how administrative costs have mounted in Alberta is found in the provincial police estimates, this year $500,000 as compared with $350,000 in 1919. The university gets $550,000 this year, in 1919 only $340,000.
